Guest Article :

Fr. John Denburger

When Jesus entered the village, we can be sure a crowd followed and a crowd welcomed Him. His reputation had spread - no one spoke with such authority as He did and no one did the wondrous deeds as He did by a touch, a word. Gathered around Him were the blind, lame, paralyzed, diseased anxiously waiting and pleading to touch Him or be touched. Such were the ten lepers standing at a distance and raising their voices "Jesus, Master! Have pity on us!"

They stood at a distance - those words aptly describe their lives - shunned, feared, cursed they knew only misery with the bleakest future of a slow death. Surely, with the noise of the crowd, they cried out more than once and as loud as they could trying to get Jesus' attention. And Jesus heard and saw them. And because of the distance Jesus loudly said, "Go show yourselves to the priests!" I wonder if, at first, these men were not disappointed that He did not cure them immediately but sent them on their way. However, on their way the miracle unfolded. Can we imagine the wonder these lepers experienced as the ravages of their disease disappeared, as they were restored to human life? With wonder beyond words they saw, felt healing, wholeness in their bodies and spirits. Despair disappeared with the disease.

One of them, only one, a Samaritan returned and Jesus is surprised at the lack of gratitude of the other nine, but notice - not lack of gratitude to Himself but to God His Father.

"Has none but this foreigner returned to give thanks to God!" Then Jesus, with love and joy said to him, "Stand up and go, your faith has saved you." And Jesus gazed on him with gratitude, greatly thankful for the gratitude he had shown the Father. This passage offers a number of things for our reflection and benefit - gratitude to God for all the graces of our lives is surely number 1. However, there is a sentence, a word of Jesus that has caught me: "Go show yourselves to the priests!" - not the words so much as the fact that it would take time to find a priest wherever he might be. There is something of a wait involved - a call to trust in Jesus. I wonder - did Jesus, in sending them, pray that they would trust? I believe He did!

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

During the octave of the event of the birth of Jesus I was recollecting my last visit to Italy with my mother and some friends. In our visit with Monsignor Paul at Maria Maggiore we stood before what was understood to be the relics of what is spoken of as) "Sancta Maria 'ad Praesepe'".

The title referring to the five pieces of sycamore wood that were part of the manger. In a word the Holy Crib. We sang the familiar Silent Night as we gathered before the relic. Recalling another visit with family we (while staying in Man) walked from the train station to the church of St. Camillus de Lellis. What was most impressive about the architecture was the placement of 123 pieces of stained glass over the sanctuary which are circular. In the center were Jesus and our Blessed Mother Mary. Extending out were the angels and apostles and saints. Our celebration of the first coming of Christ might ask for some reflection as to how well we increase and extend His presence to others. I am not sure how often we are reminded that we are temples of the Holy Spirit (sanctuaries some might say). Advent has been a time to prepare the way of the Lord. Ideally the preparation has to do with a direction of life that increases our capacity to be sources of blessing to others. The Latin gives us BENEDICERE which has some implication with the use of words of blessing. Elizabeth heard Our Lady's greeting and responded 'blessed are you among women and blessed is the fruit of your womb'. Words familiar but might they be applicable to our communication of the one we celebrate at this time and the one we expect to come at the end of time?

It indeed may be a challenge to seek to appreciate how we might extend our capacity to be simply a people of blessing in relationship to our baptismal identity. May we approach the crib in thanksgiving. May we extend the presence of the Word Made Flesh within ourselves as well.

From Bobbi Bugaj

On this Sunday of Holy Family of Jesus, Mary and Joseph I got to meditating on how difficult their lives might have been and how they all chose to do the Father's will no matter what transpires. I thought of the times in my life when I felt like I was being exiled when I picked up and changed jobs to be more available for family. That without the connection of family my life would have been very different. And I would like to give you my definition of family. It starts out including those close to you, then expands to include friends, relatives and even a few people I have met maybe just once or twice. My family evolved into a community of faith. A community that supports, and prays and reaches out to me and others. A community that hopefully shows the image of God. A few weeks ago, I learned something I may or may not have known before, that in Hebrew the word redeemer is "Goel". In the Old Testament he is the family member whose duty it is to protect the interests and rights of the family. It included family, property and justice. Family and justice stood out because just a few short days ago we celebrated Christmas. The remembrance of the first coming of Christ to the world. Today's readings show Joseph and Mary keeping the infant Jesus safe in what was not the safest of times. Years later, Jesus saved me, innocent and on a cross. He rose from the dead, ascended into heaven and I am waiting for his coming again. I love meditating on steps of faith, what my redemption through Jesus has done in my life.
The light in darkness, the promises kept by God, the submission of self to surrender to a journey that has the Holy Spirit to guide.
It is a wonderful feeling this community of faith, this family.
It includes immediate family, friends, acquaintances and strangers just passing on a sidewalk. If I acknowledge all of them through my faith, my calling toward the home of eternity.
I know that I will see the image of God in others and learn to treat the stranger like brother or sister. As I prepared for Advent listening to the prophets, reflecting on the question of John the Baptist to Jesus from prison, I found a renewal of the definition of family. The sharing of faith, even through hard times, that gives a renewed insight into what Jesus the redeemer means: The breaking of original sin, my baptism to be an adopted daughter, the scriptures, the Eucharist, everything healed by grace. (It's all grace). I think of Joseph following God through a dream, Mary saying yes to an angel, and Jesus saying yes to death on cross and resurrection. I am glad to be a child of God and have such a large family who believes that faith and a yes to God bring eternal life.

The angel Gabriel was sent from God to a town of Galilee called Nazareth, to a virgin betrothed to a man named Joseph, of the house of David, and the virgin's name was Mary. And coming to her, he said, "Hail, favored one! The Lord is with you." But she was greatly troubled at what was said and pondered what sort of greeting this might be. Then the angel said to her, "Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. Behold, you will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and you shall name him Jesus. He will be great and will be called Son of the Most High, and the Lord God will give him the throne of David his father, and he will rule over the house of Jacob forever, and of his kingdom there will be no end." Mary said, "Behold, I am the handmaid of the Lord. May it be done to me according to your word." Then the angel departed from her. (Luke 1:26-33, 38)
