Guest Article :

Rev. Jerome Machar OCSO

"It was the LORD who sent me to prophesy against this house and city all that you have heard" (Jer. 26:12). The prophet does not speak on his own authority. This is confirmed in a comment made by the prophet Amos. "I was not a prophet, and I was never trained as one. I was a herdsman and a dresser of sycamore trees. It was the Lord who took me from following the flock and sent me to preach to his people Israel" (Am. 7:14-15). God not only called the prophet, but he also put a huge burden on him, the need to speak a message that would bring salvation to the people. God allowed the prophet to see what he saw. God opened his heart to the prophet and allowed him to feel the agony of suffering humanity in all its horror. The prophetic utterance is the voice that God lends to the silent agony of the poor. God reveals his compassionate love through the empathic words of the prophet. God's compassionate love for the poor and needy was, and remains, a challenge to the rich. The word of the Lord is rooted in compassion, not compromise. The prophet speaks of justice and mercy. Living among the people, the prophet's heart was moved to compassion. The misery of the people around him would not allow him to keep silent. The prophet was moved to compassion because he lived close to the heart of God. Having had a first-hand experience of the loving compassion of God, the prophet was commissioned to call his hearers to deal compassionately with the poor and marginalized. Each of us is called to be a light for those who wander in darkness. Each of us is called to be a sign of hope for those who are trapped in despair. Like Christ, each of us must be willing to drink the bitter cup of suffering so that others may drink the cup of salvation. The prophet Ezekiel spoke of the urgent demand placed on him by his calling. "Son of man, I have made you a watchman for the people of Israel; so, hear the word I speak and give them warning from me" (Ezek. 33:7). Jeremiah gave a rather graphic description of what happened when he tried to walk away from the call. "But if I say I will never mention his word or speak in his name, his word burns in my heart like a fire. It is like a fire shut up in my bones. I am utterly worn out trying to hold it in. I cannot keep silent" (Jer. 20:9). The apostle to the gentiles understood the source of this urgency. "The love of Christ compels us" (2 Cor. 5:14). The prophet's words are rooted in the heart of God. God so loved the world that he created us with a capacity to know and love him. He planted in our heart's desire to seek the truth and gave us a mission to share it with others. The Master of the Universe has called each of us by name. He wrote His Word on the tablets of our hearts. He who has spoken heart-to-heart with us has called us to speak heart-to-heart with one another. This heart-to-heart conversation will lead us to do the truth in love. As we allow God's word to echo in our hearts, we will become instruments to help others to hear the gentle voice and open their eyes to recognize God's loving presence in their lives.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

The opening liturgy for the St. Benedict community was on the Feast of the Birth of Mary that allowed for an opportunity to share what it means to develop in stages, the stage from conception to birth. Our Lady of the Immaculate Conception (observed as we know in December) gives us pause to consider our own preparation for the divine life initiated at baptism. Inasmuch as Mary was conceived without sin we too are reborn in baptism and are directed in a manner of living in the imitation of the first disciple who heard the word of God and kept it. It was also evident in her greeting after the Annunciation as her cousin Elizabeth said "Blessed are you among women and blessed is the fruit of your womb."

Stages of development in the growth of academics as well as socialization in a Christ like atmosphere are part of the emphasis our school encourages. Her birth then set the stage for the coming of the Messiah. Inasmuch as our children (as well as ourselves) are able to progress relative to education and our faith lives (we are called to be lifelong learners of the Way of Christ) this may be an impetus to appreciate our journey in relationship to the Teacher of the way and truth and life. In the westerns of my youth there seemed always to be the presence of a stagecoach. A coach that runs by stages, our lives are a journey and each stage may ask for an appreciation of how we may appreciate the instruction of the Gospel and the words of Jesus Himself relative to our day to day and being led out of ignorance (a lack of knowledge) born of an attitude that we have graduated from the Gospel teachings. The word graduate comes from the Latin "as a step climbed on a ladder." This week we were reminded of the ladder of the Beatitudes. A step by step ascent to a holy life. The Feast of the Birth of the Our Lady may be an impetus or a movement towards continually development through the stages of our lives. We appreciate the blessing of the school year and the stages of education for our children. At the same time may we remain in the class room initiated at Cana with Our Lady saying to the stewards

'Do whatever He tells you'.

From Bobbi Bugaj

I am one of 19 first cousins on my Dad's side. We are rather large and loud and loving and extended clan. This past week one of my cousin's own daughter and her daughter's husband completed the preparation for baptism of the last of the 5 children that they adopted. The children are all from the same family and they were kept together in love. It happened that this Tuesday's evening prayer was the Feast of the birth of the Blessed Virgin Mary and the reading from Roman's 9:4-5 and the 1st line shared "to the Israelites belonged the adoption, the covenants, the law-giving, the worship and the promises..." As always I went in a direction that was maybe not what St. Paul intended but I thought of my baptism and what "my adoption" means to me. I went out on line and looked up what adoption meant (my notes do not say what website this was) but what I wrote down was this: The action or fact of choosing to take up, follow or use something. My parents spoke for me at Baptism, I formally took it up on my own at Confirmation, but I did in fact to choose to be part of this family. To walk in the footsteps of Jesus and use the Gospel message to live in a life that has a relationship starting with who I am and where I am at. I also started as a parent and Bob and I chose to bring our daughter Maggie into this relationship also. Bob and I chose to live our faith and pass it on to Maggie, then her husband and now my grandson JoJo. This adoption of divine grace brought forth a relationship and a community of believers that light a path to follow. In following none of us walk alone. This is a relationship with God that required feeding, clothing, sheltering, loving me as I am with the promise of what that love changes in me. I am raised as God's own with the promises that started with Mom and Dad having me and then asking God to adopt me. At my Confirmation I chose to speak for myself and make the choice to walk this path. I am pretty sure that I make this choice every minute of every day because I acknowledge the transformation in my heart that has changed over time. I also acknowledge that transformation is my identity and relationship with God. I have in my 68 years been influenced by people who I will call Saints on this Earth, who have walked with me, been the image of God with me, and whose faith and loved transformed me. This adoption has given me (while all is grace) the grace of compassion, forgiveness, mercy, all of God's free and loving gift without strings. I am loved where I stand, who I am, and given the path forward to be what God wants me to be. He understands failure and acknowledges my will to change even though sometimes I fail. I am relearning everyday what it means to be an adopted child of God and I am loving the path. I am an adopted child of God.

Parish will learn about the ministries of Franciscan Mission Service (FMS). As a Catholic, 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, FMS prepares and sends lay people to serve communities in South America, the Caribbean, and here in the United States—and the organization relies on the prayers and financial support of U.S. parishes to do this. In anticipation of this visit, Franciscan Mission Service invites parishioners to reflect on Pope Leo XIV's words from his first papal message: "Together, we must look for ways to be a missionary Church, a Church that builds bridges and Encourages dialogue, a Church ever open to welcoming... all those who are in need of our charity, our presence, our readiness to dialogue and our love." How might you be called to mission, to dialogue, to presence? Some give by going on mission, and some go by giving—with both prayer and donations. To find out more and hear missionaries' first-hand accounts, visit www.franciscanmissionservice.org.
